

It is extremely important to be prepared for emergencies. Assemble and keep an emergency kit with enough supplies to support you and your family for at least 72 hours.

Conditions Overview

Most rivers have peaked and are now starting to recede.

The Bulkley River at Smithers continues to recede slowly, however, it remains well above flood stage.

The Nechako River at Vanderhoof continues to rise steadily. It is currently at its highest water level of the spring.

Generally, the weather has been favourable especially in the northwest where there has been little precipitation. The north will see light rain today, with 5-10mm expected for the Peace River area. Prince George may experience thunderstorms with localized showers and hail.

Flood Advisories, Watches and Warnings

A High Streamflow Advisory means that river levels are rising or expected to rise rapidly, but that no major flooding is expected. Minor flooding in low-lying areas is possible.

A Flood Watch means that river levels are rising and will approach or may exceed bankfull. Flooding of areas adjacent to affected rivers may occur.

A Flood Warning means that river levels have exceeded bankfull or will exceed bankfull imminently, and that flooding of areas adjacent to the rivers affected will result.

NORTHEAST REGION

A Flood Warning was downgraded to High Streamflow Advisory for the Upper Fraser River (McBride, South Fort George).

A High Streamflow Advisory remains in place for the Nechako River at Vanderhoof and the Nechako River at Isle Pierre. Both river levels are rising slowly with Vanderhoof at its highest water level this spring.

A Flood Warning remains in place Liard River. It peaked at 15.25 metres overnight, and is currently declining.

A Flood Watch remains in effect for the Moberly River which is starting to decline.

A Flood Watch is in effect for the southern Peace River. River levels have risen significantly due to high rates of snowmelt and heavy rain.

A Flood Watch remains in place for the Finlay River which is beginning to recede.

NORTHWEST REGION

The Skeena, Nass and Bulkley Rivers have started to recede from their peaks.

A Flood Warning was downgraded to Flood Watch for the Skeena River. The Skeena has receded very quickly and may fall below flood stage by Monday. Because there is substantial snow still remaining in the watershed, it may rise again, depending on weather over the next two weeks.

A Flood Warning remains in effect for the Bulkley River in the Smithers and Houston areas, which continues to recede.

A Flood Warning was downgraded to a Flood Watch Nass River. The Nass is receding quickly however it remains above flood stage.

A Flood Warning remains in place for the Telkwa River, whose water levels have remained level due to rainfall overnight.

A High Streamflow Advisory remains in place for the Nechacko River.

CENTRAL REGION

A High Streamflow Advisory ended on the North Thompson River upstream of Kamloops.

SOUTHEAST REGION

A Flood Warning remains in effect for the Columbia River (Golden), where it has begun a slight recession.

A High Streamflow Advisory dropped for the Kicking Horse River (Golden).

SOUTHWEST REGION

A High Streamflow Advisory remains in effect for the Lower Fraser River, encompassing the area between Hope and the ocean. The water level has plateaued, and the advisory may be dropped.
